

AUTHORS' SHORT BIOGRAPHIES / DATE DESPRE AUTORI

ARPENTII, Irina received MA in Archaeology and Ancient History at the State University of Moldova. During 2013-2016 she worked as Museologist at the National Art Museum of Moldova, Department of Decorative Art and Sculpture. Irina was a Scholar at the Lane Kirkland Scholarship Program in the academic year 2016/2017 and studied at the Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan, Poland. At the same time, she is involved in activities and projects implemented by National Committee ICOM Moldova.

E-mail: irynaarpentii@gmail.com

BASU, Asmita, Ph.D. research scholar at the NIT, Durgapur and associate professor, Designation & Organisation, Army Institute of Management, Kolkata. Important publications: "Sustainable Development - a challenge for archaeological site management in the coastal areas of West Bengal in Eastern India." In "Current Trends in Archaeological Heritage Preservation National and International Perspectives," ed. Musteata, Sergiu, and Stefan Caliniuc. BAR International Series 274, no. 2: 5. 2015. Presented a number of research papers at different international conferences held in Jordan (WAC, 2013), Siem Reap (IPPA, 2014), Stockholm (EASAA, 2014), Paris (EurASEAA, 2015), Cardiff (EASAA, 2016).

E-mail: asmita.basu2011@gmail.com.

BIBBY, David is an archaeologist with the State Heritage Service of Baden-Württemberg, Germany. He holds the post of Manager, Digital Archaeology. His responsibilities include archiving digital archaeological data. David Bibby is a member of the Commission on Archaeology and Information Systems and the Commission on Excavation Techniques of the Association of German State Archaeologists and is chair of the Working Group for Archaeological Archives of the Europae Archaeologiae Consilium.

E-mail: david.bibby@rps.bwl.de

BROWN, Duncan H. has been Head of Archaeological Archives with Historic England since 2010, before which he was Curator of Archaeology at Southampton Museum Service. He is also a member of the Working Group for Archaeological Archives of the Europae Archaeologiae Consilium. Duncan is the author of 'Archaeological Archives. A guide to best practice in creation, compilation, transfer and curation' and a co-author of 'A Standard and Guide to Best Practice in Archaeological Archiving in Europe'.

E-mail: Duncan.Brown2@HistoricEngland.org.uk

CALAZANS, Marília Oliveira is MA in History of Science at the University of São Paulo, a History teacher at Prefecture of Cubatao, Brazil. Research interests: Shell Mounds; Industrial and Mining Archaeology; History of archaeology, Transhumanism. Recent publications on History of Archaeology and Neuroscience.

E-mail: mariliaoc@usp.br

CURTA, Florin is a historian and archaeologist specializing in the research of the Central and Eastern European Middle Ages. Between 1990 and 1993 he worked at the "Vasile Pârvan" Institute of Archeology, Romanian Academy in Bucharest. In 1998, he defended his doctoral thesis titled "Making an Early Medieval Ethnicity: the Case of the Early Slavs" at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, United States. Since 1999, he is a professor of history and medieval archeology at the University of Florida, Gainesville, USA. He is the author of four monographs, over 130 studies and articles, and over 60 reviews. He is also a co-author of a sociology dictionary. Professor Florin Curta also published six collective volumes, alone or in collaboration, lectured at several universities in North America, South America, and Europe.

E-mail: fcurta@ufl.edu

DOBRE, Laurențiu Marin graduated from the Faculty of History of the Ovidius University, Constanța, in 2003. In 2007 he received an MA degree in European Studies at the Centre for European Studies, "Al. I. Cuza" University of Iași. Since 2008 he began a non-invasive exploration of marine remains. After receiving his qualification in underwater archaeology (2014), his interest shifted to the shipwrecks which occurred on the Romanian territory. In 2016 he became a diving instructor in the field of diving and underwater archaeology.

E-mail: mlaurentium@yahoo.com

GLIGOR, Mihai is Associate Professor of World Prehistory and Archaeology at the University of Alba Iulia (Romania). His main publication consists in Așezarea neolitică și eneolitică de la Alba Iulia-Lumea Nouă în lumina noilor cercetări, Ed. Mega, Cluj-Napoca, 2009, which has received the 'Vasile Pârvan' Award of the Romanian Academy (2011). Mihai Gligor is the author of around 50 articles related to archaeology, archaeometry and osteoarchaeology. He, is the main organizer of International Symposium on Funerary Anthropology Homines, Funera, Astra, held at '1 Decembrie 1918' University of Alba Iulia.

E-mail: mihai.gligor@uab.ro

LEGNÉR, Mattias is an historian and Full Professor in Conservation at Department of Art History, Uppsala University Campus Gotland. He recently led an innovative research project exploring the motives of attacks on heritage sites, and is currently heading the Research Node Cultural Heritage at Uppsala University. Legnér has published widely on management and use of built environment, and is one of the authors of the recent article "Heritage under attack: motives for targeting cultural property during armed conflict", International Journal of Heritage Studies 23:3 (2017). Among other recent publications are "Kulturarvsbruk i väpnade konflikter" (Uses of heritage in armed conflicts), Historisk Tidskrift 136(4) (2016), and "Valorization and management of the built heritage of fortified towns: The cases of the UNESCO World Heritage Sites of Sabbioneta, Italy, and Visby, Sweden” (together with D. Del Curto), in Sguardi ed esperienze sulla conservazione del patrimonio storico architettonico: Proceedings of the International Conference Preventive and Planned Conservation Monza, Mantova - 5-9 May 2014, Milano, 2016.

E-mail: mattias.legner@konstvet.uu.se

SPINEI, Victor is a historian and archaeologist specializing in the Middle Ages research (especially the 9th-14th centuries, the eastern regions of the Carpathians). He is also interested in the issues of Romanian historiography. Since 1966 he has been working at the Institute of History and Archaeology “A. D. Xenopol”, Romanian Academy, Iasi Branch. After the division of this institution, he served as head of the Medieval Archaeology Sector (1990-2004), then as director (2003-2011) and honorary director of the Institute of Archaeology (since 2014). Since 1990 he has been working as a professor at the Faculty of History of “Al. I. Cuza” University of Iasi. In 2001 he became a correspondent member of the Romanian Academy, and in 2015 - a full member of the Romanian Academy. In the same year, he was elected vice-president of the Romanian Academy. He is the author of sixteen monographs, over 120 studies and articles. He has edited and coordinated the publication of more than 80 volumes. He is also the author of several university courses, notes, and reviews. Professor Victor Spinei has lectured at several universities in Romania, but also beyond her borders. He is a member of several national, international and international committees.

E-mail: vspin@uaic.ro

STROBEL, Michael was born in 1968, 1989-1994 Studies of Prehistoric Archaeology in Marburg, Aix-en-Provence, Saarbrücken und Tübingen, 1994 Master, 1998 PhD, 1998-1999 Travel Scholarship of the German Archaeological Institute, 2000-2001 Traineeship (Landesamt für Denkmalpflege Baden-Württemberg), 2001-2002 DFG-Project “Michelsberg Ditch-Systems in the Heilbronn Region”, since 2002 Regional Officer, Landesamt für Archäologie Sachsen.

E-mail: Michael.Strobel@lfa.sachsen.de

TALPĂ, Ina did a three-year degree in Tourism Science at University “La Sapienza” in Rome (2012-2015) and graduated MA program at the Bicocca University in Milan with a degree in Economics of Tourism (2015-2017).

E-mail: inatalpa29@gmail.com