

AUTHORS' SHORT BIOGRAPHIES / DATE DESPRE AUTORI

BALKELIS, Tomas is a senior fellow at the Lithuanian Historical Institute in Vilnius. In 2015-16 he was a visiting scholar at the Center for Russian and East European Studies at Stanford University. During 2009-2013, he was a European Research Council Postdoctoral Research Fellow at University College Dublin. He is the author of The Making of Modern Lithuania (Routledge, 2009). His articles have been published by Past and Present and Contemporary European History, among other journals. He has a particular interest in the modern history of the Baltics. His research fields include nation-building, population displacement and paramilitary violence.

E-mail: tomas.balkelis@gmail.com

BLASEN, Philippe Henri holds an MA degree in the history of religions from the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. He is currently enrolled in a PhD program in History at the Babeş-Bolyai University, Cluj, Romania. Since July 2018, he has been working as a researcher within the project Migrations and Identity in European History: Communities, Connections, Conflicts at the A. D. Xenopol Institute of History, Iași. In recent years, he has increasingly focused his research interests on the history of ethnic and religious minorities in Romania and on the history of Bukovina.

E-mail: philippe.blasen@gmail.com

CEOBANU, Adrian-Bogdan is a Lecturer at the Faculty of History at the "Alexandru Ioan Cuza" University of Iași. In September 2013 he defended his Ph.D in History at the "Alexandru Ioan Cuza" University of Iași (Magna cum Laude). The title of his dissertation was Romanian-Russian Political and Diplomatic Relations (1878-1893). From January 2009 to September 2014, he was an Assistant Researcher at the Romanian Academy, within the A.D.Xenopol Institute of History in Iași. His fields of research interest focus on the following topics: history of international relations, history of Romanian-Russian relations (1866-1918), history of Romanian and European diplomacy in the 19th and 20th century. He has also been actively involved in the publishing and editing of diplomatic documents. He has published two books: Diplomați în Vechiul Regat. Familie, carieră și viață socială în timpul lui Carol I (1878- 1914) [Diplomats in the Old Kingdom. Family, Career and Social Life during the Rule of Charles I (1878–1914)], Alexandru Ioan Cuza University Press, Iași, 2015, 374 pp; Politică și diplomatie la sfârșitul secolului XIX. Din istoria relațiilor româno-ruse (1878- 1899) [Politics and Diplomacy During the Late 19th Century: From the History of Romanian-Russian Relations, 1878-1899], Alexandru Ioan Cuza University Press, Iași, 2017, 464p., and numerous articles.

E-mail: bogdan.ceobanu@yahoo.com

CUȘCO, Andrei holds an MA (2002) and a Ph.D. degree (2008) from the Department of History of the Central European University (CEU) in Budapest. His research interests focus on modern East European history, comparative history of the Eurasian empires, intellectual history and historiography. From September 2008, he was a Lecturer at the Department of History and Geography of the “Ion Creangă” State Pedagogical University in Chișinău. From September 2016 he is an Associate Professor at the same department. Between September 2015 and January 2016 Dr. Cusco was a Fulbright Visiting Scholar at the Department of History, University of Maryland (College Park). Dr. Cusco's first major publication is a book on the history of Bessarabia as a borderland of the Russian Empire (Bessarabia as a Part of the Russian Empire, 1812-1917), co-authored with Victor Taki and published at the Novoe Literaturnoe Obozrenie Press (Moscow) in 2012. He has also co-edited a volume on Romania and its neighbors during the early phase of World War I. His second book – A Contested Borderland: Competing Russian and Romanian Visions of Bessarabia in the Late 19th and Early 20th Century – was published at the CEU Press in October 2017.

E-mail: andreicusco@yahoo.com

IVANAUSKAS, Vilius was a senior research fellow in the Lithuanian Institute of History. He holds a Ph.D. degree in History. In 2012-2013 he was a Fulbright Scholar at UC Berkeley (US). His newest book, focusing on nationalism and Soviet writers (Framed Identity: Lithuanian Writers in the “Friendship of Nations” Empire) was published in 2015. His first book (The Lithuanian Nomenklatura in the Bureaucratic System: Between Stagnation and Dynamics (1969-1988)) was published in 2011. An article on writers was also published in the international journal Europe-Asia Studies (66, 2014). His research interests deal with Soviet intellectuals, nationalism on the Soviet peripheries, cultural elites and transformations in Lithuania.

Email: vilius.ivanuskas@gmail.com

JOHNSON, A. Ross is a History and Public Policy Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington and Senior Adviser at Radio Free Europe/Radio Liberty. Johnson was a senior executive of RFE/RL from 1988 to 2002, serving as director of Radio Free Europe, director of the RFE/RL Research Institute, acting president, and counsellor of RFE/RL. He was a research fellow at the Hoover Institution from 2002 to 2016 and senior staff member of the RAND Corporation from 1969 to 1988, where he specialized in East European and Soviet security issues. He is author of the book Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty. The CIA Years and Beyond. Stanford: Stanford University Press, 2010 and coeditor of Cold War Broadcasting; Impact on the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe; A Collection of Studies and Documents. Budapest: Central European University Press, 2010. He has overseen the deposit of the RFE/RL archives at the Hoover Institution, the Blinken Open Society Archives, and other archives. He initiated the Cold War Broadcasting Research Google Group, which brings together interested scholars to share ideas, research, and new publications.

Email: a.ross.johnson@wilsoncenter.org

MUSTEAȚĂ, Sergiu is currently Professor at the History and Geography Department, Ion Creangă Pedagogical State University in Chișinău. Author of 7 monographs and more than 200 articles on history, archaeology, cultural heritage preservation and textbooks analysis. The most recent work is About Us and Our Neighbours: History Textbooks in the Republic of Moldova, Romania and Ukraine. Georg Eckert Institute, Braunschweig, Eckert. Dossiers 7, 2017. urn:nbn:de:0220-2017-0097, URI: <http://repository.gei.de/handle/11428/213>. He is editor of two monograph series – ANTIM monographs and Unknown Documents and Histories (25 volumes published), and editor of the young historian's annual journal (14 volumes published). Every year he delivers over 20 presentations and public lectures in various academic centres around the world. Hence, in recent years he has been a visiting scholar and a visiting professor in many universities in the US, Germany, Romania, etc.

E-mail: sergiu_musteata@yahoo.com

NEGURĂ, Petru is a Lecturer at the Free International University of Moldova (ULIM) and researcher at the Center for Sociology and Social Psychology from Chișinău. He holds a Ph.D. in Sociology from the École des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales (Paris) and he authored a book (Ni héros, ni traîtres. Les écrivains moldaves face au pouvoir soviétique sous Staline, Paris, L'Harmattan, 2009) and dozens of academic articles. Petru Negură was an invited scholar / lecturer at the École Doctorale en Sciences Sociales of Bucharest (EDSS, within the University of Bucharest), at the École des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales of Paris (EHESS), and at the University of California, Berkeley. From 2010 to 2013, Petru Negură was country coordinator of the Academic Fellowship Program (Open Society Foundations / HESP) in Moldova. During 2014-2015, Petru Negură was a Fulbright Scholar at the University of California, Berkeley. Since 2011, he has been director of the PLURAL Forum in Social Sciences NGO, based in Chișinău. His current research topics include: the sociology / social history of intellectuals in Eastern Europe and in the former USSR; the sociology / social history of public education in Eastern Europe and in the former Soviet Union; the sociology / social history of the social welfare services in the USSR and in post-Soviet Moldova.

E-mail: petru.negura@gmail.com

PÂSLARIUC, Virgiliu holds a Ph.D. in History from the “Al. I. Cuza” University of Iași (2002) and an Associate Professor at the Faculty of History and Philosophy of the Moldova State University (USM), since 2005. Dr. Pâslariuc benefitted from a post-doctoral fellowship at the University of Bologna (2008-2009). He specializes in medieval and modern Romanian history, with a particular focus on the fields of cultural history and historical anthropology. His research interests include, among other topics, the issue of the evolution and dynamics of the Romanian nobility during the modern period, as well as the status and trajectory of the Bessarabian elites under Russian imperial rule (1812-1917). Among his most important recent publications, one could mention the following works: Raporturile politice dintre marea boierime și domnie în

Țara Moldovei în secolul al XVI-lea [The Political Relations between the Great Boyars and the Princely Institution in Moldavia in the Sixteenth Century], Chișinău, PONTOS, 2005 (monograph); "Moldavian SSR's Border Revision Question: From the Project of "Greater Moldavia" to the Project of "Greater Bessarabia" and the Causes of their Failure (December 1943-June 1946), in: Archiva Moldaviae, II (2010), p. 275-370 (with Igor Cașu); „Apocalipsa după Ștefan”: temeri eshatologice și violență ritualică în timpul domniei lui Ștefan cel Mare [„The Apocalypse According to Stephen:” Eschatological Fears and Ritual Violence during the Reign of Stephen the Great], in: PONTES. Review of South-East European Studies, Nr. 7-8, 2011-2012, p. 89-108.

Email: paslariuc@gmail.com

PETRENCU, Anatol is a University Professor at the Department of World and Romanian History, within the Faculty of History and Philosophy of the State University of Moldova (since 1999). In 1986, he defended his PhD thesis on the topic of Romanian-Italian Relations in the 1970s and the first half of the 1980s. In 1998, he was awarded a Habilitation with a thesis discussing Romania's policy regarding Bessarabia during 1940-1944. From 1990 to 1992, Anatol Petrencu served as Head of the Faculty of History at the State University of Moldova. Since 2010, he has also been Director of the Institute of Social History „ProMemoria.” Between 1998 and 2006, Professor Petrencu was President of the Association of Historians of the Republic of Moldova. In 2010, he was a member of the Commission for the Study and Evaluation of the Totalitarian Communist Regime in the Republic of Moldova. Professor Petrencu's main fields of research interest focus on the contemporary history of Western Europe and the US, the history of post-1945 international relations and the comparative study of totalitarian regimes. He has authored six books and three schoolbooks. He has edited three collections of documents and one collective volume. Professor Petrencu has written over 400 articles and research papers.

E-mail: anatol_petrencu@yahoo.com

SUVEICĂ, Svetlana has a Ph.D. in history and is a researcher at the Institute of History, University of Regensburg. Dr. Suveică is a former Humboldt research fellow at the Institute for East and Southeast European Studies (IOS) Regensburg (2012-2014) and a former Fulbright research fellow at CREEES, Stanford University, California, US (2009-2010). From September 2008 to August 2018, Dr. Suveică was an Associate Professor at the Faculty of History and Philosophy, Moldova State University, Chișinău. Since September 2018, Dr. Suveică is a Research Associate at the Chair of Southeast and East European History within the Institute of History of the Faculty of Philosophy, Art History, History and Humanities at the University of Regensburg. She authored two monographs and one edited volume, and numerous publications concerning the interwar political, administrative and social transformations of Romania and Bessarabia, social processes in the Moldavian SSR, as well on recent political and social changes in the Republic of Moldova.

E-mail: ssuveica@gmail.com